Workshop I ~ Keeping FCS Programs Strong

What makes a strong FCS program? Middle Schools (MS) serve as feeder programs for our High School classes. We will look at a traditional Middle School program, an elective MS program, a newly reinstated MS program and a recently eliminated Middle School program.

A second part of the workshop will revolve around changes that are being suggested for FCS at the National level. Time will be spent discussing the impact this will have on Middle School and High School Programs.

Workshop II ~ Service Project ~ Pam Geyer

This workshop will explain a dynamic service learning project designed for students in a clothing and textiles class. While developing construction skills students transform pillowcases in to colorful dresses for children living in poverty in Africa. While learning the 'how-to' of such a project you will be creating your own dress for a child somewhere around the globe.

Each participant will need to bring their own new pillowcase, bias binding and matching thread.
