

2010 ECI Official Starter's Note

By Steve Nesbitt

Hello friends...welcome home to a tradition unlike any other...The Endicott College Invitational. It is that time once again to renew relationships and reflect back on a season with hopes and dreams fulfilled Mickelson...and SUV's slammed into fire hydrants after one too many cocktails combined with ambience and an alleged five-iron to the face. It is a privilege once again to be the honorary starter at the year's first major. So many fond memories remain so close back on the mean streets of Hale. Driving to Gloucester instead of Cape Ann on the inaugural day in 2000...giving new meaning to The Perfect Practice. Consulting with Justin McLearn on the 9th tee against our chief rival...instead discussing strategy to find a way to bring it in to the halfway house at the turn and burn...Heading south to Myrtle Beach and Pinehurst for spring break...and inquiring in the restroom, "Is that the Dragon? I thought it was one of my associates." So many glorious experiences...so many violent slices from Marc Zirolli's driver. I wish you all good health, much happiness and the ability to smoke a cigar while making an athletic motion...whatever that may entail at Red Tail.
