A Yard-Altering Experience

Please join Sue Lavallee from Coast of Maine Organic Products for this informational seminar on:

Organic Vegetable Gardening....from the ground up!

Successful organic vegetable gardening is not attained by simply replacing chemical fertilizers and pesticides with organic ones. It also involves the proper conditioning of your garden beds with organic matter. Experienced gardeners know that building the soil is the single, most important aspect of organic vegetable gardening. Doing this will produce incredibly vigorous, productive, and disease resistant vegetable plants. Learn how to grow vegetables that have exceptional flavor and the added bonus of a higher nutritional value!

Whether you are a beginning gardener, a more experienced gardener or are just interested in learning more about soil and bed preparation, please join us. Topics include the 4 types of soil, the till vs. no-till method of gardening, yearly conditioning of your soil, what makes the Coast of Maine soil amendments so unique and helpful gardening tips.
