World's Leader in Underwater Egress and Emergency Survival
Grand Opening of their New Survival Training Simulation Theatre

PR- Survival Systems USA Inc, the world's leader in underwater egress and survival training, is proud to announce the completion and grand opening of their state-of-the-art SURVIVAL TRAINING SIMULATION THEATRE at their headquarters in Groton, CT. This facility is now home to the most up to date and sophisticated underwater egress, surface water survival, and environmental simulations available. Students can now experience rain, wind, thunder, lightning, fog, and the downwash from a rescue aircraft.

After more than 12 years in business, SSUSA has trained over 100,000 individuals from every corner of the globe. The Modular Egress Training Simulator (METS™) will still be the backbone of their training, but the environmental simulations are sure to make this the most realistic and hands on training the company has ever offered.

All members of the community are invited to observe training and take a tour of the facility on April, 14, 2011. Demonstrations of the METS™ and the new training theatre will run at 9:00 am, 11:00 am, 1:00 pm and 3:00 pm. Please contact Tracy Whitehead for more information or to schedule your group for one of the times.
